What Is A Community Foundation?

A community foundation is a publicly supported organization created by and for local citizens to benefit their community. Community foundations pool gifts, both large and small, to meet local needs, build the community's capacity to help itself, and improve the quality of life for all the community's residents.

Because community foundations know and understand local needs, they are especially suited to educate and help people with their charitable contributions through personalized service and local expertise. Donors gain access to the community foundation's professional staff to learn about community needs and to identify innovative and effective community projects.

These characteristics make community foundations ideal for administering philanthropic funds. Donors can create funds now or in the future in their will through their estate planning.

Partnering Together for 30 Years of Doing Good

As guardians for the greater good, we have remained true to this commitment for over 30 years. Thank you for being part of our philanthropy in Henry County, where over $18M has been granted back into our community since 1985.

As we look back in review through our timeline on pages 2 & 3, some of our best work together stands out: Our partnerships with people and organizations strengthen our success. It all begins with people like you who invest in the greater good with us.

We lost a shining star in 2015 but he left us a great example of how to follow his lead. Whether in business or philanthropy, Danny Danielson was a master of good partnerships, a true champion for Henry County and his effect on our community will never be forgotten. We salute and thank our hometown hero on pages 30 & 31.

In celebration of our Anniversary, the Foundation's board of directors awarded $50,000 to HOPE Initiative's Early Childhood Education plan to help Henry County's children be ready for kindergarten. We invite you to read about this partnership on pages 4 and 5.

Because of your generosity, we were able to partner with Lilly Endowment's Giving Indiana Funds for Tomorrow (GIFT) and generate over $1 million to add to our assets for grant giving. Read about Lilly GIFT VI's success on page 4.

Partnerships strengthen our community and nowhere was that more evident than when the Cancer Society of Henry County teamed up with the Foundation. This nonprofit has been helping cancer patients in our community for over 50 years. When their dedicated board members could no longer manage the volunteer organization, they created an endowment at the Foundation that will continue to support community members who are fighting cancer. (page 32)

New lifetime donor, Ginger Jessop, formed a partnership with us to help the Trojan Band & Guard and that led her to connect with another partner, New Castle Band Boosters. Together we have created a way for everyone to be part of helping the band, through their donations at the Foundation, see how on pages 24 & 25.

Middletown resident and emeritus board member, Rex Slick, was awarded the prestigious Judy Melton Award for 2015 for his dedication and generosity to our community. (page 7)

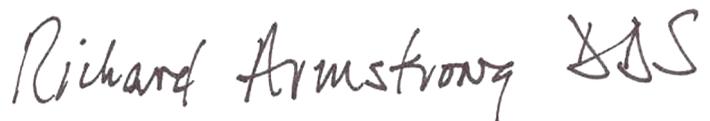

In celebration of Indiana's Bicentennial, the Henry County Community Foundation partnered with Red-tail Conservancy and others to create a 104-acre permanent Natural Preserve along Fall Creek in western Henry County. (page 6)

Major partnerships throughout the past 30 years have generated education opportunities, economic growth, art and culture and good health in our community.

We invite you to continue our journey in partnerships to "Make a Difference, Henry County!"

Foundation Invests in Community's Early Childhood Initiative

Project of the Year - Lays groundwork for Future Success

Celebrating their 30th Anniversary, the Henry County Community Foundation (HCCF) invested $50,000 in HOPE Initiative's Early Childhood Education plan to help the community address the growing need of making sure every child is ready for kindergarten.

Evidence shows that children who have a good start in life before age 5 enter school as stronger students and evolve to more successful adults. When local non-profit, HOPE Initiative, formed a committee to investigate this principle in Henry County, the results were conclusive: There weren't enough early childhood education opportunities and children were not coming to kindergarten prepared. In addition, the study revealed that early childhood caregivers were not certified, creating an obstacle for receiving grant funding.

Community partnerships were formed with HOPE's Education committee leading the way for local early childhood caregivers and educators to achieve the "Paths to Quality" – an accreditation recognized by both the State of Indiana and at the national level.

Foundation Raises

Henry County is a little richer today. In July 2014, Lilly Endowment, Inc. issued a challenge to all 94 Indiana Community Foundations: They would match new gifts to the Unrestricted Fund for the Community Grants Endowment $1:1, or $1:2 for designated funds up to $500,000 for Henry County through their Giving Indiana Funds for Tomorrow (GIFT) program.

"We're happy to report that Lilly Endowment's match generated $541,382.65 to the Unrestricted Fund for Community Grants and $742,133.85 for our Designated Funds, culminating in a grand total of $1,283,546.40 in Endowments that will benefit the Henry County Community," said Beverly Matthews, president of the Henry County Community Foundation.

"Community Grants are flexible, unrestricted funds, allowing the Foundation to meet new, unanticipated needs and opportunities. Since this is a permanent, endowment fund, these grant dollars will continue to be a resource for Henry County forever," added Matthews.

Henry County.

With help from the City of New Castle, Henry County Community Foundation and Henry County Commissioners, HOPE created a pilot program with local partners. Head Start, YMCA Pre-School and Cradles and began a training program for personnel to achieve certification.

In addition, HOPE formed a partnership with Huffer Memorial Children's Center, a regional leader in the field of Early Childhood education since 1972, serving adjacent Delaware County. The certified training in Henry County continues with Agape Pre-school joining in the accreditation program. A training center has been designed and set up in HOPE's headquarters, an empty building given to them for $1 per year by the Henry County Commissioners.

According to Dr. Cathy Hamilton, a co-director of HOPE Initiative, "Certification for early childhood caregivers and space for these organizations so they can meet the Paths of Quality accreditation, are our goals so all Henry County children can enter kindergarten prepared to learn."

Presenting the award, Dr. Richard Armstrong, 2015 board chairman said, "Our partnerships with committed local organizations has helped lead us to successful results in our community throughout our 30 years. The Henry County Community Foundation grants committee and board of directors continue to invest in these leadership initiatives where the entire community will benefit."

$1 Million in Gifts

The Unrestricted Fund for Community Grants supplies the funds for the two competitive grant cycles held annually that support the work of non-profits serving Henry County residents. In addition, Designated Funds also grow the impact of dollars available for the five categories that address the broad needs in the community: Health, Social Services, Education, Cultural and Civic Affairs.

"The short time needed to earn the full $500,000 in matching Lilly Endowment dollars illustrates the value the community places on the grant funds and programs administered by the Foundation," said Dr. Richard Armstrong, board chairman for 2015.

Gifts to endowment funds are permanently invested and the annual income from them provides grants for scholarships, designated funds and community grants to charitable organizations, worthy causes and institutions that will improve the quality of life within our community forever. An endowment fund allows individuals to make a lasting enhancement to their community, their life, their passion. The endowment tool allows donors to make a difference that will last forever.

Preserving Our Natural Places

Fall Creek Woods Created for Indiana's Bicentennial

To celebrate Indiana's Centennial in 1916, the State created the Indiana State Parks system, the same year that America's National Parks were established. This concept of setting aside and preserving America's natural places for future generations has proved to be one of the nation's greatest ideas.

In honor and recognition of Indiana's Bicentennial, the Henry County Community Foundation was able to partner with nonprofit Red-tail Conservancy and other organizations to create a 104-acre Nature Preserve in western Henry County, near Mechanicsburg. The land acquisition helped expand the 40-acre Smith-Crisler Nature Preserve and will be called Fall Creek Woods.

Barry Banks, executive director and founder of Red-tail, describes the property as a diverse, hilly and ecologically rich forest. "The key to the additional acreage is that it links the 40-acre wooded nature preserve to Fall Creek improving water quality and expanding a wildlife corridor," states Banks. Part of the property is tillable farmland that will be taken out of production and restored to wildlife habitat. When opened to the public later this year, Fall Creek Woods will have hiking trails and a parking lot. It will be an excellent spot to enjoy nature, bird-watch, hike among the trees and wander along the brook as it meanders to Fall Creek.

This $402,000 project was possible through funding from the Bicentennial Nature Trust and the Indiana Heritage Trust with the help of grants from the Henry County Community Foundation and the Land Conservation Fund of the Community Foundation of Muncie and Delaware County.

Unlike other protected properties nature preserves purpose is to protect the plants, animals, and natural communities found on them. "This project will be a beautiful place where Hoosier families can enjoy exploring Indiana's natural heritage for generations to come," said Lisa Pfenninger, Henry County Community Foundation Grants Committee member.

Cheri Estelle, fifth grade teacher at Sunnyside Elementary, is the recipient of the 2015 Teacher Excellence Award.

The Teacher Excellence Award is the highest honor the Foundation can bestow on an individual in education. The honor is designed to recognize teachers who have demonstrated an outstanding commitment to inspire students to reach for difficult and lofty goals. Persons to be recognized have earned the respect of students, parents and peers through sustained effort, high moral standards and the likelihood of enduring beneficial effects on the students with which they have worked.

Rex Slick Recognized for Philanthropy and Service to Community

Middletown resident, Rex Slick, received the highest philanthropy award given from the Henry County Community Foundation at their annual meeting and 30th anniversary celebration on Thursday, June 18 in New Castle.

The “Judy Melton Award” is an honor reserved for individuals who are making a difference in Henry County, exemplifying philanthropy through their time, talent and treasure and is selected by the Foundation’s board of directors.

Slick was recognized for his involvement in the Foundation since the early 1990s, serving on the board of directors from 1991-1996 and where he still serves on the Development and Finance Committees.

“Rex Slick was one of the first people to get involved with the Henry County Community Foundation who lived outside New Castle. He understood the concept of the Foundation and started building endowments to benefit not just his own fund, but he has also contributed to 47 other funds at the Foundation. His support helped make the Foundation stronger and his leadership has been extraordinary because of his own example and encouragement to others to become involved with the Foundation” said Beverly Matthews, president.

Slick and his wife, June, started Slick Engineering in 1947 and have lived in the Fall Creek community many years, where they remain active members of the Honey Creek United Methodist Church. They continue to support preserving history, helping the hungry and homeless, supporting youth and good health and according to Matthews, “making the Foundation stronger while reaching the perimeters of Henry County through their generosity.”

Slick’s name will be engraved on a plate for a plaque inside the Foundation office as the 2015 recipient of the Judy Melton Award for “making a difference in Henry County through his time, talent and treasure with a lifetime dedication to our community.”

student learning, demonstrate character, encourage colleagues and inspire students.”

“She never misses an opportunity to recognize a student for effort and provides many opportunities for students to develop and strengthen their talents. One of her students remarked that he was having a much better year because he was part of her class. I am confident that those students who are fortunate enough to have had her as their teacher, will one day look back and recall that she was instrumental in their success as an adult.”

Any current, full-time educator of a public school within Henry County was eligible for nomination and the winner was selected by judges outside the county. This award is sponsored by an endowment at the Foundation.

Make A Difference,

Women who care about Henry County have the opportunity to join the 2016 Women's Circle of Friends — an initiative of the Henry County Community Foundation.

The Circle of Friends is made up of women who are interested in supporting Henry County by contributing to a local charity together as a unit to increase their impact.

Women's Circle of Friends is seeking at least 100 women who will each donate a minimum of $50 for the betterment of our communities and who will join us September 13, 2016 for our Women's Grantmaking Gala, held at the Art Center in New Castle.

The donation will be split between the Circle of Friends Giving Circle to be granted the evening of the Gala and the Women's Circle of Friends Endowment Fund started in 2005, which funds needs related to women and girls.

The mission of the Women's Circle is to provide financial resources to a local non-profit organization for projects that improve lives in our community. At the Gala, members will enjoy an evening of philanthropy, fun, hors d'oeuvres, and vote on a non-profit organization to receive our pooled donations and help strengthen Henry County.

How much more powerful can women be? We encourage you to make a donation and to tell your friends about this unique opportunity to be part of a group that will make an immediate, direct and positive effect in our community today!

Membership donations are due by September 6, 2016 to be part of the inaugural Women's Grantmaking Gala.

What is a Legacy Gift?

A legacy gift is a planned future donation to a charity, given through a will or other form of designation. It is a decision that each person makes in their own financial planning process, taking into account their charitable wishes and values.

Consider a legacy gift to the Henry County Community Foundation when you are evaluating your personal, family and financial needs as well as your long term charitable giving. There are different options for legacy gifts and a legacy gift may provide significant tax benefits. Every legacy gift, regardless of the amount, is important and can be discussed with cherished family, your lawyer or financial and/or tax advisor.

Why create a legacy gift?

Americans create legacy gifts for many different reasons. For some, it is a way to ensure their memory lives on. For others, it is a way to ensure that their favorite charity is able to continue its important work. Others find that it represents a way to facilitate the tax implications that come with the transfer of one's estate to surviving relatives.

Gifts both large and small are important — legacy giving is not just for the wealthy. Everyone who supports the Foundation is at a different stage of his or her life and able to give at a different level. Whatever your specific situation may be, we can help you find a legacy giving option that suits your circumstances.

Memorials

Many have found that a fitting way to remember a special someone is through a gift in memory or in honor of that person. During times of great sorrow and times of great joy we look for ways to honor those who are dear to us. A gift in memory of or in honor of a loved one contributes to a bright future while remembering our past.

Saving the Band, Why I Choose to Give

By Ginger Jessop

Ginger Jessop

My family moved from New Castle to the Indy suburbs just before my Senior year so my mother could be close to aging parents. I adapted to the energy of the city and made my home there; but New Castle was where I had grown up, and it's where I felt most at ease.

After 15 years, business brought me back. In the Fall of 2014 I was working as a salesperson for a commercial heating and air conditioning company, and New Castle High School was assigned as my account. While in town for business, I stopped to see my beloved teachers, special people who gave of themselves selflessly to help me become who I am. The years away meant lots had changed, but walking into the band room felt like a time warp. The wall of instrument lockers where I had stored my clarinet, the giant chalkboards where I learned music theory, the amphitheater-style tiering of the floor with rows of chairs we saw as status symbols based on who sat where, and the podium in the middle where our teachers shared their vision and drive – it was all the same.

It was in that room that I found myself in conversation with Mark Middleton, one of my musical mentors who served alongside Bob Shauver and eventually took the mantle as the leader when Shauver retired. He molded a bunch of small town kids into a force with which to be reckoned. We were the New Castle High School Trojan Marching Band and Guard. We had a legacy of state champions preceding us and the dream of winning again motivating us through early morning practices and long hours at band camp. We were winners. We held our chins high and eyes to the sky.

Mark and I spoke for a long time about the band. Funding was tight. Kids couldn't afford instruments or the band fees. Many of the band parents were underemployed. The number of students in the program was dropping because they simply couldn't afford to be involved. It broke my heart and made me angry. I itched with the anticipation of a caged animal. I felt trapped by the circumstances. But I also believed there had to be an answer. As I drove back to Indianapolis I asked the Heavens to help me. The solution needed was much bigger than anything I could do, but I wanted to help.

Finding a Place to Support My Passion

Six months later I was back in town for a meeting at the Administration building off Elliott Avenue. I shared my desire to give back to the school, and I was told to speak to the Henry County Community Foundation... which just happened to be one building away. I drove out of one parking lot and into the next, walked through the doors and asked the receptionist if there was someone with whom I could speak about giving money. I didn't really know what I was asking for, but I could feel I was on the right track. There was an energy and an alignment I can only explain as the assurance the Universe has your back. I had only intended to give a little here and there as I was able, but I discovered that no vehicle for giving to the band existed. I asked myself, “If not me, then Who?” So I set my doubts aside and made a commitment. By the time I left the Foundation, I had started the paperwork to create an endowment.

Over the next several months I became a little crazy. To start an endowment, $5,000 of seed money is required. Once that portion exists the fund works like an investment, providing dividend payouts of the money in the fund while allowing the seed money to continue growing. I loved the idea of creating something immune to the ups and downs of the economy and the ability of people to give. My love for the band was consistent, and I wanted a guarantee there would be consistent support forever into the future. I couldn't have been more excited. I think that's the magic of passion and why it all came together so quickly and felt like so much fun. Each month I combed through my budget. It didn't feel like sacrifice; it felt like living. I remembered what I really cared about and what could wait. Every cell in my body buzzed with excitement as I rearranged the numbers and felt the tide of connecting with something much bigger.

Creating a New Partnership

As the months passed I connected with the Band Boosters and found new friends who shared my heart. I learned there were others who wanted to give and had started down their own paths to making a difference. As we shared our stories it became evident that the timing of the inspiration that had struck us each as individuals was part of a larger collective pulse that felt uncannily orchestrated. It was confirmation to each of us and encouraging to all of us.

In December I attended the Band and Guard Alumni Reunion at the Fieldhouse. As I looked out over the sea of students and alumni playing side-by-side and saw another generation of students and teachers and crowd enjoying the music, there was a deep joy in my soul. I had done was my part.

The best part of it all is that there are people who believe in band the same way I do, and they are coming alongside me. Some give money, some time, some talents, some encouragement. Our collective vision is going viral and growing stronger every day.

Dreams do become real. Sometimes it takes something big to remind us how amazing life can be. We create our own destiny. We are reawakening to the clarity, goodness, and power of who we really are. We are connected to something much bigger than ourselves. We are family. We are one. Let's go, NC!

A modern-day hippie, Ginger lives in Indianapolis for the short commute; but her favorite places are far away from the city where she can see the stars and feel the dirt between her toes. Happiest when she has no agenda and gets to flow with the inspiration of the moment, Ginger is passionate about living life with fearless intention and inspiring people to remember their strength, beauty, and power.

Keeping the Music Alive

Because Ginger Jessop established a permanent endowment to grow New Castle Band's resources for the future, it encouraged the local Band Boosters to establish a Pass-through Fund to help the Band now.

This created a partnership to help the band today and strengthen it for tomorrow. When donations are made to New Castle Band Boosters Pass-Through Fund, 20% will go toward the endowment with 80% benefitting the Pass-Through Fund for needs today.

If you were part of New Castle Band or just want to help keep the music going, you can donate the following ways:

The TASC (Teens About Serving the County) Youth Grants committee meets four times each school year. The TASC Committee includes one 8th grader, one freshman, one sophomore, one junior, and one senior from each of the five school districts in Henry County. The TASC Committee assignment is to evaluate grant submissions relating to youth and educational programs. The Henry County Community Foundation, Inc. provides the TASC Committee with a budget from the Unrestricted Funds for Community Grants. Youth Grants Chairman, Bill Bergmann as well as a Foundation board representative, oversee the process and ensure basic parliamentary procedure is followed.

Along with the privilege of serving on the TASC Committee, these students accept the responsibility of critically evaluating each grant submission for purpose, scope, need, and viability. They then determine whether each grant will be accepted as is, partially funded, denied, or accepted with conditions. The TASC Committee grant recommendations are then taken to the Henry County Community Foundation Board of Directors for final approval.

“It is not our abilities that show what we truly are

Accepting gifts received from the late Danny and Patty Danielson's estate are L-R, Jeff Smiley, Henry County Community Foundation board member; Greg Crider, local attorney and president of the IU East Danielson Learning Center Advisory Committee; Duane Anderson and Susie Danielson Anderson, Danny and Patty Danielson's daughter and son-in-law who presented the gifts; Beverly Matthews, president of the Henry County Community Foundation; Kathryn Cruz-Uribe, chancellor of IU East; Chris May, executive director of the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame; Aaron Benson, YMCA board member and Chris Williams, executive director of the Henry County YMCA.

The day that the late Danny and Patty Danielson made the choice to make New Castle, Indiana their home, the future revealed that our community spirit would reach a zenith with their citizenship. Danny Danielson lived by example and he shared what he gave so others would know how to follow and no one followed that example better than his own children.

When I visited Danny in his home in March 2015, he told me how proud he was of his daughters, Mary Johnson, Susie Anderson and Amy Thompson. At age 95, Danny knew his life on earth would be over soon and he was “putting his house in order.”

“I asked my kids first what they needed or wanted,” he said. They all replied, “Daddy, we want you to spend your money the way you want.” Clearly Danny was moved by their response and knew that they were following his life example.

On behalf of her sisters and herself, Danny's daughter, Susie Danielson Anderson and her husband, Duane, came to town on Tuesday, Dec. 8, 2015 to present Danny's gifts from his Last Will and Testament to our community.

It was Danny's choice to make substantial donations to his beloved YMCA, Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame, IU East Danielson Learning Center and the Henry County Community Foundation, and to continue that legacy in his death by leaving large gifts to the places he loved.

Everyone can follow Danny's example

Service and support were Danny's mantras. He knew we needed good people to step up in our community and lead. He also knew that it takes dollars and faith to invest in the community and he never let us down. He took that leap of faith and his investment in New Castle and Henry County was strengthened with his life-long commitment.

Even in his death, he demonstrated through example how to create a legacy of support for places that are important to the strength and vigor of our community that will see us through to a better tomorrow.

It doesn't matter whether you have millions or a lot less to give away, Danny showed us all how to live through his choices. His dedication to his family and our community through his leadership and generosity have created points of light throughout our local landscape.

He left us education, good health, economic development, honor for the past, a strong foundation for the future and many gestures of sharing with charities to help others. These were the choices he made that continue to bless our community today.

Danny Danielson and his late wife, Patty, understood that their service and donations to the Henry County Community Foundation would enrich the future of the community and the bright light they left leads the way. It is our opportunity to follow.

Danny Danielson, Champion for Henry County

Danny Danielson, age 95, of New Castle, Indiana passed away on Thursday, May 7, 2015 at home after a short illness but the legacy he leaves his hometown community of New Castle and Henry County will never be lost.

Danielson and his late wife, Patty, were instrumental in establishing the Henry County Community Foundation and it was their service, dedication and influence that contributed to its success. They were among a strong core group of people that laid the groundwork of excellent stewardship that the organization still follows today.

Danielson was an emeritus member of the board of directors and was still active on the Foundation's Finance Committee. He and his late wife, Patty, were recipients of the Judy Melton Award in 2012.

Beverly Matthews, President of the Henry County Community Foundation said, "While Danielson was recognized as a leader and great philanthropist throughout the state of Indiana, his hometown community prospered the most from his lifelong dedication to New Castle and Henry County. The best way to honor his life is to follow his exemplary example, abundant generosity and his service to others."

Middletown's Dietrich Park is a gathering place for Fall Creek Township and is the site of the town's annual Fair. Located on Fall Creek just off of Raider Road, the park features several baseball and softball diamonds, picnic facilities, a paved walking path, playground, a War Memorial, military canyon, splash pad, fishing on Fall Creek, and a community building. Recognizing the importance of the 16-acre park to the people of northwestern Henry County, the Community Foundation has been a partner with the local community in support of the park, awarding $33,000 in grants since 2003.

Parks and recreation have three values that make them essential services to communities: 1. Economic value 2. Health and Environmental benefits 3. Social importance. Just as water, sewer, and public safety are considered essential public services, parks are vitally important to establishing and maintaining the quality of life in a community, ensuring the health of families and youth, and contributing to the economic and environmental well-being of a community and a region.

Fighting Cancer for over 50 Years Continues

By Abbie Willans

For over half a century, the Cancer Society of Henry County has brought hope to cancer patients and their families. In February of 2015, a “Field of Interest” endowment fund with the Henry County Community Foundation was created to ensure that the legacy of the Cancer Society will go on forever.

In 1952, the Cancer Society of Henry County was established in an effort to help Henry County Memorial Hospital purchase medical equipment. This developed into easing the burden of local residents who had been diagnosed with cancer, both financially and emotionally. Later they assisted in the construction of the Forest Ridge cancer wing.

Rosemary Muncy has been involved with the Cancer Society since 1974. What started out as a way to help the society became a lifelong passion. She had been part of the Cancer Society, and was the president, until 2015 when their assets were turned over to the Foundation.

“It was very rewarding to talk to the cancer patients,” Muncy said. Even after they had finished treatment, she kept in touch with many former patients. “Anytime you need to talk, I’m here,” she told them.

Rosemary and her board of directors, Judy Robins, treasurer, Paula Timmons, secretary and board members Phyllis Kirkpatrick and Levi Muncy have never received pay for operating the organization and filing all the proper paperwork to keep the non-profit going.

When unable to continue their duties, they looked for other ways to make sure their good work continued. Familiar with the Foundation’s staff and structure, Muncy and her board members made the decision to create a permanent endowment where the good work they started could continue.

Services Will Be Supported Through Endowment

The Foundation will not be providing direct help to cancer patients but will instead pay annual income from the Fund to other groups who are providing direct services. While many Henry County residents may be saddened by the closing of the Cancer Society, they can still contribute to their cause. The fund they set up ensures that the Community Foundation will use the money from the Society to benefit cancer patients who live in Henry County.

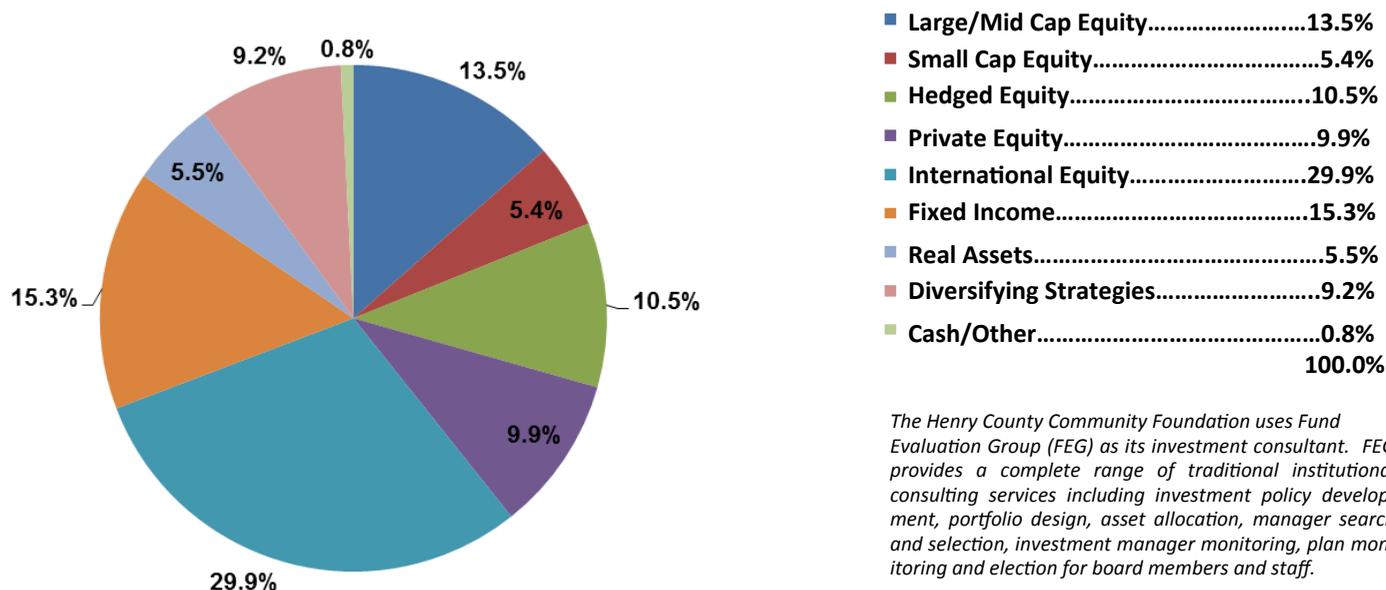

While not limited to Henry County, the Little Red Door is one organization whose goal is most similar to the Cancer Society’s. Serving all of east central Indiana, Little Red Door can use funds from the Cancer Society endowment fund to provide medicine and other necessities, help patients get to their doctor’s appointments, and even supply things like wigs or scarves for Henry County residents.

As new cancer treatments evolve, other items or services could also be included if they meet the criteria of dealing with a cancer diagnosis, as well as offer help and comfort as patients navigate through their treatment and recovery.
