Teacher Excellence Award 2019 Winner: Emily Whaley

Congratulations go out to Ms. Emily Whaley who received the 2019 Henry County Community Foundation Teacher Excellence Award. Ms. Whaley is a Mathematics teacher and Data and Technology Integration Coach at Shenandoah High School. The award was presented in a special assembly of all students on May 22.

The Teacher Excellence Award is the highest honor the Foundation can bestow on an individual in education. The honor is designed to recognize teachers who have demonstrated an outstanding commitment to inspire students to reach for difficult and demonstrated an outstanding commitment to inspire students to reach for difficult and lofty goals. Persons to be recognized have earned the respect of students, parents and peers through sustained effort, high moral standards and the likelihood of enduring beneficial effects on the students with which they have worked.

Not all nominators choose to be revealed, but Greg Allen, principal of Shenandoah, was proud to nominate and tell the community about the wonderful educator he works with. "Emily Whaley is an excellent educator who is dedicated to her students, our school, and to our community. I cannot think of a better example of an exemplary teacher." In his application Allen shared "(Her) dedication to students at Shenandoah is unrivaled by any teacher I have been in contact with in 22 years as an educator."

Ms. Whaley teaches Algebra, Pre Calculus and Trigonometry. She was instrumental in bringing dual credit and early college opportunities to Shenandoah through her own interest in meeting the needs of the students on campus. She serves as a student council advisor and a data/technology coach for Shenandoah. This year Ms. Whaley stepped up to teach a 7:00 a.m. class when another teacher became seriously ill. Not only did she teach the class, but she began coursework for dual credit certification to benefit the future of her students.

Any current, full-time educator of a public school within Henry County was eligible for nomination and the winner was selected by judges who are or have been teachers outside the county. This year seven exceptional teachers were nominated for the award. This award is sponsored by an endowment at the Foundation.

Allen summed up his nomination saying, "Emily Whaley is a leader in our school, the community and her church. Mrs. Whaley stands up for what she believes. She balances an incredible amount of responsibility with what seems like relative ease. (Her) work ethic, abilities and personality make her a perfect fit for any high school. Shenandoah is blessed to have (her) as a teacher leader."
